

MIT Center for Energy and Environmental Policy Research

Energie
braucht Impulse

UNIVERSITY OF
CAMBRIDGE

Electricity Policy Research Group

EPRG & CEEPR Joint Annual Conference
hosted by EnBW
Berlin, 15-16 July 2010

AGENDA*

Thursday, 15 July

European policy targets

European Policy Targets – David Newbery, EPRG PDF
How Binding are the EU's 'Binding' Renewables Targets? – Angus Johnston, Law Faculty and EPRG,
University of Cambridge PDF

Market Transparency / Distribution Business Models

Regulating Power Markets: Challenges Ahead and Initiatives Towards More Transparency of Power Trading –
Matthias Kurth, Bundesnetzagentur PDF
Impacts of Decarbonisation and New Technology on UK Energy Supplier / Distributor Relationship –
Petter Allison, British Gas

Luncheon

Christian Buchel, EnBW
“Future challenges of energy markets and energy systems”

Wholesale Market Design

Capacity Markets: Principles and What's Happening in the US – Ben Hobbs, Johns Hopkins & EPRG PDF
Capacity Remuneration in Europe: New Needs in the Context of the New Renewable Policy
– Carlos Vazquez,
Gas Natural-Union Fenosa

Promoting Competition

Competition Enforcement in the Generation and Wholesale Markets – Andreas Mundt, Bundeskartellamt
An ex ante economic assessment of the new French electricity law – François Lévêque, Ecole des Mines Paris-Tech

Friday, 16 July

Electricity Transmission

Towards an Adequate Electricity Transmission Policy – Ignacio Pérez Arriaga, Comillas & MIT

Challenges and Scenarios for Transmission Systems in Europe and Germany – Christoph Maurer, Consentec PDF

The Carbon Content of Trade

Kyoto and the Carbon Content of International Trade – Gabriel Felbermayr, Universität Hohenheim

Will Border Carbon Adjustments Work? – Niven Winchester, MIT

*If a speaker has made his or her presentation available, a link is shown next to the name. In some cases no presentation is available for public distribution.